

"A Little Voodoo" on the Wire

"Fantastic" - The Philadelphia Inquirer

"Featured Album" - KINK

"Top 100 Sales" - Amazon.com

"Album of the Week" - WXPN

* - All Music Guide, Alex Henderson, August, 2002

"The energy reaches new heights!" - The Friday Morning Quarterback

"Simply put, A Little Voodoo is Grey Eye's best work to date.
Lead singer Jennifer Nobel shines."

- World Café Website

"Imagine Audrey Hepburn fronting Genesis.
Progressive Rock for the Sarah McLachlan generation. VERY appealing!"
- Hits Magazine

"Here is some investment advice you will not hear on CNBC: put your money in a rock group. Dozens of people have done just that, buying shares in an unusual band-and-fan venture started by the Philadelphia music group, Grey Eye Glances."

- The New York Times

"...tremendous accessibility and a smooth appeal worthy of radio play. This time around, Grey Eye Glances gets everything right, which allows A Little Voodoo to create some magic."

- Entertainment News and Views, July 4, 2002

"This band possesses one of the finest vocalists in modern pop and rock music today in Jennifer Nobel...This CD is sure to please and with a little luck will allow many more to discover the talents of one of the finest bands in modern music today."

- WYCE 88.1 FM, Grand Rapids, MI, Gregg Saur, PD, June 2002

"Lead singer Jennifer Nobel's vocals are outstanding and worth more than just one listen. We also love the track 'Oh No'." (Rating: 10.0) - the celebrity café.com

...drawing favorable comparisons to 10,000 Maniacs in the bargain, Voodoo finds those sensibilities blossoming...a full-bodied sound that ably demonstrates how thoroughly the alt consciousness has become mainstream.
